The Rhoades School Foundation is sponsoring an auction fundraiser benefiting The Rhoades School in Encinitas. We'd like to know if your organization would be willing to support our school through a donation of items for our auction.

Founded in 1980, The Rhoades School has been known in San Diego County for its excellence in preschool through eighth grade education. Our school educates approximately 330 students across three campus locations, drawing families from all over the North County area.

The Rhoades School Foundation is the parent support organization for The Rhoades School. Our Foundation is a volunteer, 501(c)(3) non-profit corporation, whose mission is to provide enrichment for The Rhoades School's students, including: educational resources, equipment, and special events that build a sense of community. To accomplish this mission, The Rhoades School Foundation relies on support from our parents, alumni, local businesses and other organizations.

Our principal fundraising event of the year is called "Tropical Nights" and will be held October 22. Funds raised through the event will support teacher-identified needs and campus enhancements. The teachers on all three campuses – preschool, lower school and middle school – are putting together wish lists of items that will enhance classes for the students and support their curriculum. In addition, The Rhoades School Foundation is placing a special emphasis this year on service learning: outreach opportunities for our students, parents and school staff to engage with the larger Encinitas and North County community.

You can help by donating one or more items that we will present during the auction. With your donation, you earn the recognition and appreciation of our very active parent community! Any contribution that you could make to our event would be much appreciated.

If you have any questions, or would like additional information about this fundraising event, please contact Camille Wilson at rhoadesfoundationgala@gmail.com or (240) 461-5420. Thank you very much for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Carrie Cappiello
